The University of Craiova, in partnership with the D.A. Tesenov Academy of Economics and the Engage in Education Association, announces the launch of the joint course Urban Horticulture on April 10, 2026. The University of Craiova organises this course in the framework of the project “PROMoting IncluSivE and Quality Education through Technology, Leadership and Sport - Hard”, funded in the Interreg VI-A Romania - Bulgaria Programme.

The joint course “Urban Horticulture” has 80 hours (56 in online, 24 in person). 20 students from the University of Craiova and the D.A. Tsenov Academy of Economics attend this course. The course is taught in English by an expert in this field. From July 9 to 11, 2026, the University of Craiova will host the in-person component of the course (24 hours). During this period, Romanian and Bulgarian students’ skills will be assessed by their professor, and they will participate in social and cultural activities designed to help them get to know one another and visit points of interest in Craiova. For more information about this course’s schedule, please contact the communication manager.

This project aims to increase graduates’ competencies and skills, making them more attractive to employers in the RO-BG cross-border region and improving their employability. Two educational infrastructures will be developed: one at the University of Craiova in Craiova and another at the “D.A. Tsenov” Academy of Economics in Svishtov. It is the second project in which the University of Craiova and the “D.A. Tsenov” Academy of Economics collaborate within the framework of the Interreg Romania-Bulgaria Programme.
